Happy Fall everyone! I don't know about you, but I have so enjoyed the cooler temperatures in our weather lately. While I consider myself a "Texan", something about this time of year, makes me long to be in my other "home" of North Carolina as the temperatures continue to drop and my favorite season or what I like to call "sweatshirt and jeans weather" begins! I miss seeing the leaves change color and all the pines on the ground.

Growing up in NC, we would rake all the leaves and pines and make giant piles so we can run and jump in them. It was a favorite thing for my sisters and I to do. I recently was trying to recall when the last time was I did that and thinking to myself- I've gotta find some leaves to see change this year!

Change. Now there is a word that can make some people feel downright uncomfortable. As the seasons change, we too go through many changes in our own lives. Change is not something to be feared but to be cherished. I personally like change because with change comes growth. Change is something that I believe scares a lot of people. Overall, I like to think of myself as a person that has no problems adjusting to change, but if you were to ask me to change something that is part of my everyday routine (like taking away my coffee for example), I honestly could say, I don't think I would adjust as easily! It is so easy to get wrapped up in our own lives that we forget that when we choose not to change, then we may miss opportunities for growth and learning. The world changes all the time so if you choose to stay where you are, pretty soon, you will wake up wondering where you are and how you got there! Change isn't as bad as it seems. I think what scares most people is the unknown. Change is truly much like our faith- we can't always see the greatness or how awesome it is, we just have to feel its presence to know how wonderful it truly can be.

I suppose I am saying all these things in response to the changes that we are proposing in our constitution and in the wake of a new church budget as we prepare for another year of ministry within ILC. Changes are sure to occur. We as a congregation have an opportunity to respond to how the changes we make will impact "how" we respond to our community and "how" we do ministry in this place together. One thing is certainly true: "we cannot continue to do the same things we have always done and expect different results". Progress is not possible without changes from time to time. I think we all know that. I think what we all have to remember is that with change comes opportunity and who knows what that could mean for a 140 year old church! Sounds exciting to me!

We are a part of one of the greatest denominations of Christian faith who embraces change and is a part of a progressive positive movement. The ELCA has stood the test of time and continues to challenge us as a people of God to "live" the Gospel we proclaim each week. This year's motto "Always being made new" is a reminder for us as a congregation that with that motto comes changes; changes that can strengthen us as a church while also continuing to honor all we have done as a church. Our National Bishop Eaton says it best, when she said this: ".. We are church together for the sake of the world. Our lives have been changed by our relationship with God through Jesus Christ, and it's that encounter with Jesus that frees us to make a difference". It is my prayer that we continue to be up for that challenge- to make a difference. May the changes of your lives and this church strengthen our faith and be cherished in your hearts!

Always a servant,

Oktoberfest is scheduled for October 26th beginning at 4:30 p.m. at the Lions Club. There will be good food, fun, fellowship and music provided by The ILC Oktoberfest Band. In order to make this annual event a continued success, the Fellowship Committee needs individuals to help cook potatoes (10+ lbs. each) for the fantastic German potato salad. Bags of potatoes will be available for you to pickup in the narthex on Sunday October 19th. Please bring the cooked potatoes to the church kitchen on the morning of October 26th so we can get them to the Lion's Club for the cooks. Also we would like to invite individuals to bring their favorite dessert to share, along with item(s) for the silent auction. You may drop off your silent auction item(s) at the church office prior to the event, or bring them to the Lions Club that day. ## ELCA National News

ELCA members gather together for dedicated day of service 9/17/2014 10:00:00 AM

CHICAGO (ELCA) — Building on the work they do every day, thousands of members of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) gathered together Sept. 7 to serve their communities as part of "God's work. Our hands." Sunday.

Many wearing bright yellow "God's work. Our hands." Sunday T-shirts, members of all ages organized and participated in a multitude of service projects across the United States, which included collecting food for local food pantries, assembling personal-care kits for shelters and hospitals, cleaning up public spaces, filling backpacks with much-needed school supplies and writing letters to veterans and to members of Congress.

"It was a tremendous day of showing that we are church together. Yellow was the color of the day, and many wore it proudly," said the Rev. David M. Murphy, pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Peshtigo, Wis. More than 50 members of Good Shepherd worked in a local park where they resealed the wooden playground.

"God's work. Our hands." Sunday provides a unique opportunity for the nearly 10,000 congregations of the ELCA to gather together and lend their hands in service to their neighborhoods and communities. Although the day of service was primarily observed Sept. 7, many congregations schedule activities on other dates throughout the year.

Members of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Charlotte, N.C., constructed a free library located in a low-income apartment complex in Charlotte.

"This event provided the opportunity for additional members to join in our ministry to these families through the planning, designing and building of the Little Free Library, along with donating hundreds of books over the summer months leading up to 'God's Work. Our hands.' Sunday. This project allowed our congregation to use our hands in new ways to continue to do God's work with this community," said Sally Barnard Daggett, outreach team leader at Holy Trinity.

At Agnus Dei Lutheran Church in Gig Harbor, Wash., members put their faith in action by writing letters to Congress in support of the reduction in carbon dioxide emissions as proposed in the Clean Air Act, the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act, and the Older Americans Act. Agnus Dei member Phyllis Brandt said that although the congregation "readily responds" to the needs of their neighbors, they also look for ways to help make a difference beyond their local community.

"Service projects that we undertake benefit local needs. Advocacy letter-writing tackles the root causes on a large scale. We believe that we need to do both," said Brandt. "Concern for clean air, federal nutritional programs for children (and) programs that promote well-being for older Americans are of such a large scope. But it doesn't mean that we throw up our hands in frustration. We need to let our voices be heard as we join with others who also share an understanding that joined together we can have an influence."

The Rev. Mari Larson, pastor of Spirit of Joy Lutheran Church in Clarkdale, Ariz., said the congregation's "fellowship hall buzzed with excitement" as members worked on projects that included preparing kits for those without homes, sorting clothes for a clothing exchange and moving a non-functioning organ. Pieces from the organ are being made into art that will be sold to fund other ministries of the congregation. On Monday, some members continued the day of service by helping out at a local food pantry.

"Since the average age of Spirit of Joy members is over 60, we knew that cleaning gutters and raking leaves would leave out some of our members, so we brought 'God's work. Our hands.' Sunday inside and completed projects that didn't require as much physical stamina. In doing so, we more than tripled the number of people participating in our social ministries," said Larson. She emphasized that through "God's work. Our hands." Sunday, "we truly are the body of Christ together in service to friends we haven't yet met in our communities and the world."

ELCA campaign nears $25 million mark

9/4/2014 2:00:00 PM

CHICAGO (ELCA) - The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) is celebrating the first six months of its five-year, comprehensive campaign, Always Being Made New: The Campaign for the ELCA, with nearly $25 million raised. The amount as of July 31, 2014, includes $12.6 million for the ELCA Malaria Campaign, which is part of The Campaign for the ELCA, and represents approximately 12 percent of the campaign's total goal of $198 million by Jan. 31, 2019. Approved by the 2013 ELCA Churchwide Assembly, the campaign seeks to raise funds to sustain and grow the ministries of the ELCA.

"People are responding to the call to give generously; they want this church and campaign to succeed," said the Rev. Ron Glusenkamp, director for the campaign. Glusenkamp joined the campaign team in mid-June. Prior to this role, he was senior pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church in Cherry Hills Village, Colo. "We're hearing from individuals, families and congregations who want to do more, together, in Jesus' name."

Making up $12.6 million of the current campaign gifts is support for the ELCA Malaria Campaign. Initiated by the 2011 ELCA Churchwide Assembly, the ELCA Malaria Campaign seeks to raise $15 million by the end of 2015. Through the campaign, ELCA members have joined with companion Lutheran churches and partners in 13 African countries to prevent and treat malaria, educate communities about the disease and more.

"Lutherans from across the ELCA have already demonstrated great generosity through their support of programs working to make malaria history. I know as we all come together around The Campaign for the ELCA, members and congregations will continue that spirit of generosity through their support of other ELCA ministries," said Jessica Nipp Hacker, ELCA Malaria Campaign coordinator. "Through the ELCA Malaria Campaign, we have seen the impact we can make in the world when we work together."

In addition to the nearly $25 million in current gifts for The Campaign for the ELCA, another $4.8 million is pledged in commitments toward the campaign's goal of $198 million. With an added $1.9 million in planned gifts, $31.5 million has been committed toward campaign priorities.

"One of my favorite pieces of scripture, in all four gospels, is the story of the five loaves and two fish. Jesus receives the offering of the young boy, which the disciples question the value of, and blessed it, broke it and shared it, so that all were fed. The same is true for the campaign; Jesus is blessing what is given. With God's help, we will grow and go in our ability to meet our ministry goals," said Glusenkamp.

Through several featured priorities, The Campaign for the ELCA seeks to:
Increase the ELCA's capacity to support congregational renewal and the planting of new congregations

Form and support new lay, ordained and global leaders for mission

Encourage and form lay youth and young adult leaders

Support disability ministries

Bolster the commitment to walk with global companion churches in shared witness

Expand efforts to address poverty and hunger

Information about The Campaign for the ELCA is available at www.ELCA.org/campaign.

From the Youth & Family Ministry Office...

"Love may be the best idea that ever came along."
- Playing for Keeps, Reggie Joiner

After confirmation last Wednesday night, I was talking with one of our 8th grade students. This particular student has some amazing insight and thinks to a depth that, at times, surpasses the adults I am surrounded with quite frankly. This is the gist of what they said - What if when we pray for somebody to be healed or helped and then they are that is pure love. Pure love is what we focus to people to help them, that's what God gives to them - pure love. I told them I thought I knew what they were talking about but it was honestly one of those 'um, this student is thinking about a spiritual matter deeper than I have gone before and I think I can say I know what they mean'. I could go on about many more examples and many more students who give me those moments quite frequently. Our students are an example to me in many different ways (1 Timothy 4:12).

The above quote comes from a book called Playing for Keeps and was included on my weekly desk calendar. When I saw this quote, it immediately made me think - well, where did the idea originate? And thinking on my conversation with the student - how/where do we get an example of pure love? A couple of verses that pop up frequently in my thinking and were prompted by these questions was 1 John 3:17 and 1 John 4:7. Love has much more power to change than does hate. Love has much more power to heal than does malice. Love always wins.

Praise be to God for the love that God showed us first. Praise be to God for 8th graders that think deeply about that love and share their thoughts. Praise be to God that those thoughts of our students shape will shape the future of the church AND that they shape our church NOW!

EDUCATION MINISTRY

OCTOBER 2014

There is something about the changing of the seasons (although it is more recognizable on the East coast than here in central Texas) and the onset of the holidays that triggers something inside of us to "help others"...well, I'm prayerful it does. In our church we help others year round as it should be, but this time of year it seems as though we work a little harder to aid those in need.

In October, Education Ministry, is sponsoring 2 events which I'd like to tell you about. First, October 18th, we're hosting "Harvest Craftfest". We'll have room for 60 ladies to bring in their "crafting items", who will spend the good portion of the day in our Parish Hall working to complete. It seems to me that if we have a "gathering" of folks we might as well share a devotion together, so we will. The fee for the event is $25.00 (first registered, first served). $10 of it will go to our Food Pantry, $5.00+of it will go to ILC as a donation, and the rest will pay for lunch and snacks. If you have a craft you need time to work on, pick up a form by the church office and come on out!

Second, October 29th, we're hosting "Trunk or Treat" in conjunction with the ILC Day School's SPOOKTACULAR. We'd love for any or all of you to drive your vehicle up, decorate your trunk and open it to the "trick or treaters" who will be walking by. This event is advertised in the Pflag and Impact...we expect A LOT of kids from our community. Applications for participation (as a trunk) are available at the church office. If you'd like to help, but don't want to decorate, please drop off bag(s) of candy (individually wrapped) for us to give away. For those of you liking competition...we're challenging all of our committees and organizations churchwide to decorate at least one trunk...6—8pm...set up starting at 4:30pm.

Moving to November....Thanksgiving is just around the corner and we celebrate our 2nd annual "Merry, Martha & Me" women's holiday event. 25 hostesses will decorate tables "holiday style" and be hostess to 7 guests. Our meal is catered, served by our handsome and gracious ILC men, we have entertainment lined up, and all our fabulous ladies who attend will have a lot of laughter and good times. Interested in hosting a table?

Email: susan@ilcpville.org. Tickets go on sale the last week in October. This event is open to our community. This year we will ask all of our guests to participate in a "giving" event. We'll talk more about it in November.

I'm going to challenge my family to think outside of the box this year for the holidays. We so often get wrapped up in festivities and are so focused on our family and their needs we don't take a good look at our fellow man and what their needs are. I'm not sure what it looks like for my family but I know that this year we will focus on the needs of others and I know that my family will be more blessed from their giving than their receiving. I'd like to hear what your family does. Please email me at: susan@ilcpville.org

Sunday School: It is my hope that all of you have had a chance to visit "The Well" where our Pre-K through 4th graders study on Sundays, "The Garage" where our 5th and 6th graders meet, the "Youth Room" where middle and high school gathers and at least one of our adult classrooms. If you are 3yrs to 90+ we have a class for you. Please join us on Sunday mornings at 9:45 to grow further in His Word.

Dates to Remember...

October 18th Harvest Craftfest, sign up at the office 9am—6pm

October 29th Trunk or Treat & ILC's Day School Spooktacular 6pm—8pm

November 20th Merry, Martha & Me 5:30pm—8:30pm
